DIRECTORY

of Organization and Field Activities of the Department of Agriculture—1956

GENERAL STATEMENT

The Department of Agriculture is directed by law to acquire and diffuse useful information on agricultural subjects in the most general and comprehensive sense. The Department performs functions relating to research, education, conservation, marketing, regulatory work, agricultural adjustment, and surplus disposal. It conducts research in agricultural and industrial chemistry, the industrial uses of farm products, entomology, soils, agricultural engineering, agricultural economics, marketing, crop and livestock production, production and manufacture of dairy products, human nutrition, home economics, forestry, and conservation. It makes research results available for practical farm application through extension and experiment station work in cooperation with the States.

The Department provides crop reports, commodity standards, Federal meat inspection service, and other inspection, grading and marketing services. It seeks to eradicate and control plant and animal diseases and pests. It administers many regulatory laws designed to protect the farmer and the consumer.

It administers the national forests and, in cooperation with the States, promotes better protection and management of forests on private lands. It aids farmers in planning and installing erosion-control and other soil- and water-conservation measures on their farms. It also assists in the prevention of floods by planning and aiding in the installation of measures, on farm, grazing, and forest lands and in small stream channels, to retard runoff and reduce damaging effects of floods. It administers price support and production adjustment programs. It directs agricultural attaches who are located in various key points of the world, and administers programs to dispose of surplus agricultural commodities. It cooperates with the States, through a grant-in-aid program, in carrying on the national school lunch program. It makes loans to farmers who cannot get elsewhere the credit they need at reasonable terms, both for farm operations and to enable farm tenants and others to become farm owners. It makes loans to farmer cooperatives, other nonprofit organizations, and commercial concerns for the purpose of financing electric and telephone facilities in rural areas.

AGRICULTURAL CONSERVATION PROGRAM SERVICE

The Agricultural Conservation Program, authorized under the Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act of 1936, provides a means of sharing with farmers a part of the cost of carrying out conservation practices essential to the welfare of the Nation. Practices for which cost-sharing is offered include measures for the prevention of erosion, the establishment and improvement of farm woodland, the protection of established vegetative cover and the control and more effective use of agricultural water. The share of the cost provided under the program generally represents about half of the farmers' cost of installing the conservation measure, but no farmer may receive more than $1,500, except that for the 1956 program this limitation will not apply to certain community type projects. The 1956 Agricultural Conservation Program is based on an authorization of 250 million dollars. The program is administered locally by elected Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation county and community farmer-committeemen with the assistance, in technical matters, of the Soil Conservation Service, Forest Service, Extension Service and other agencies operating in the county.

Agricultural Research Service

The Agricultural Research Service conducts fundamental, applied and developmental research relating to the production and utilization of agricultural products, and administers control and regulatory programs closely related to this research. These regulatory programs involve enforcement of plant and animal quarantines, meat inspection, the control of diseases and insect pests of animals and plants and related work. It also administers the Federal Acts granting funds for the support of research in agriculture, the rural home and rural life by experiment stations of the various States and of Alaska, Hawaii, and Puerto Rico. Work is carried on at the Agricultural Research Center located at Beltsville, Maryland, at more than 600 locations throughout the United States, its territories and possessions. in Puerto Rico and in more than a dozen foreign countries. Most of it is cooperative with other Federal, State and other public and private agencies having similar objectives.

Research

Research on crops is directed toward reducing the hazards of production, improving the yield and quality of all crops and lowering the costs of production. This research involves work on field and horticultural plants, harmful and beneficial insects (except forest and stored products insects) including honeybees, and the development of information on the potentialities, limitations, and methods of managing soil, water, machinery, buildings and other farm resources for the most effective use of crop and range lands. Among the problems studied are the relationship of weather, disease, weeds and fertilization to crop production; the development of new and improved crops; the relation between the soil and the crops it produces; the efficient use of power, labor, machines, and materials in farming; the control of harmful and utilization of beneficial insects; and the economics and financing of agricultural production.

Livestock research is conducted on all farm livestock, poultry and domestic fur animals to develop superior strains and types, establish nutritive requirements, achieve efficient use of feed and forage in the production of meat, milk, eggs, wool, fur and other products, develop practical methods of prevention and control of diseases and parasites, improve housing and related facilities and equipment, and develop improved and efficient production and management methods. The Service also supervises national plans for improving the production and breeding qualities of chickens and turkeys and reducing their mortality.

Research on farm management is conducted to integrate improved practices relating to soils, crops, livestock, and machinery into more economical and efficient production systems.

Other investigations and experiments are carried on in the fields of chemistry and related physical sciences, technology, and chemical engineering or problems related to the processing and utilization of agricultural commodities and by-products for foods, feeds, fibers, drugs and in industry. The objective is to develop new uses and expand existing uses for the principal farm commodities.

Through laboratory and field investigations, the Service seeks to provide basic scientific information concerning food, nutrition, textiles, clothing, housing, household equipment, and family economics. This research is done in the joint interest of producers and consumers, with the object of developing new knowledge about efficient household management and ways to make best consumer use of food, fiber and other products of the nation's farms.

Administration of Acts Granting Funds to State Experiment Stations

The Agricultural Research Service administers the Federal grant funds appropriated under the various acts of Congress for the partial support of the research carried on by the State agricultural experiment stations. It coordinates the research among the States, within the lines authorized in the legislation, and between the States and the Department. The Service also participates actively in the planning and coordination of cooperative regional research among the State stations.

Regulatory

Regulatory programs are carried on by the Agricultural Research Service in the field of inspection, prevention, control and eradication of diseases and pests of livestock and crops. Quarantines aimed at preventing entry into this country of plant and animal diseases and pests or preventing their spread into disease- and pest-free parts of the United States are enforced by the Service. The Service also enforces acts safeguarding the public by conducting inspections to insure the wholesomeness and freedom from disease of domestic and imported meat and meat food products, and by regulating the marketing of economic poisons and devices for controlling insects and animal and plant diseases. Where stamping out of a pest or disease appears practical, and in instances where outbreaks are beyond the scope of State agencies to control, the Service undertakes an eradication program, usually in cooperation with State or foreign agencies. Such programs are large-scale field applications of the most effective methods developed by research.

Farmer Cooperative Service

Under the Cooperative Marketing Act of 1926 the Farmer Cooperative Service performs research, educational, and service work of assistance to three out of every five farmers of this country who belong to agricultural marketing, purchasing and service cooperatives. The Service conducts research studies and service activities on problems of management, financing, organization, policies, merchandising, costs, efficiency, and membership. It publishes the results of such studies, and works with cooperatives, the Extension Service, land-grant colleges, banks for cooperatives, State departments of agriculture, and other agencies to bring about a better understanding of cooperative principles and practices.

The Service carries on its work through three program divisions—marketing, purchasing, and management services. Staff members are experienced in studying and analyzing the problems of cooperatives marketing various commodities, acquiring and handling different kinds of farm production supplies, and furnishing frozen food locker and other business services. The Service staff is also experienced in dealing with problems in the fields of business administration, membership relations, transportation, and statistics. The Service works closely with cooperatives to help farmers improve the operations of their businesses.

Federal Extension Service

Cooperative extension work is basically a program of educational action through which scientific and technical knowledge and methods are applied to farm and home situations as a means of improving the economic and social welfare of rural people.

Cooperative extension work derives its name from the fact that the Department, the land-grant colleges of the States and Territories, and the county governments share in the financial administration and subject-matter responsibilities for the beyond-the-classroom educational programs it conducts in rural communities.

The Federal Extension Service exercises primary responsibility for and leadership in all USDA educational programs and coordinates all educational activities of the Department.

The Federal office is composed primarily of administrative and professional personnel serving as the liaison between departmental research and action agencies and the administrative and extension subject-matter staffs at the respective land-grant colleges. County agricultural, home demonstration and 4-H Club agents are located in nearly all the agricultural counties of the United States. These county extension agents make available to farmers, farm homemakers, and rural youth the results of research conducted by the Department of Agriculture, the land-grant institutions, and other research agencies, adapted to local farm and home conditions. County extension agents take the lead in organizing their counties for county program making in which farm families, technicians, and administrative workers plan together to combine scientific information, local experience, and Government aids into local programs for the common good.

The cooperative extension service, in cooperation with the Foreign Agricultural Service, arranges and supervises the programs of foreign agriculturists who come to the United States for study and training in extension methods and technical assistance.

Forest Service

The Forest Service is charged with responsibility for promoting the conservation and wise use of the country's forest and related range, water, and other wildland natural resources—as basic factors in our national security and strength.

Forests cover one-third of the total land area of the continental United States.

To meet this responsibility the Forest Service engages in three main lines of work: (1) Management of the National Forests; (2) Cooperation with the States and private forest landowners in obtaining better forestry; and (3) Forest and related range research. Briefly, these three lines of work involve the following:

(1) Management of the National Forests. This has always been for “the greatest good of the greatest number in the long run.” This in turn calls for obtaining the maximum practicable yield and use of their many resources on a continuing basis, to meet local and national needs—both under normal conditions and during times of stress.

The 181,000,000 acres of National Forests are located in 38 States, Alaska, and Puerto Rico. Technical forestry methods are applied to the growing and harvesting of crops of timber and forage, with protection of watersheds always a basic consideration. Harvest through timber sales in fiscal year 1955 was 6.3 billion board-feet. The grazing of approximately 8 million head of livestock is managed scientifically to obtain range conservation along with use of the annual growth of forage. Watersheds are managed for regulation of streamflow, flood control, sources of water for power, irrigation, navigation, and municipal supply. Some provision is made for the more than 30 to 50 million visits of people to the National Forests for recreation purposes. Effort is made to apply needed management to the extensive wildlife resource. Protection against forest fires, insects, and disease is a major responsibility. Receipts from timber sales, grazing permits, and other sources exceeded $80,000,000 in 1955.

(2) Cooperation with the States and Private Forest Landowners is provided by the Forest Service: (a) To obtain better protection against fire, insects, and disease on the 427,000,000 acres of State and privately owned forest lands and critical watershed areas; (b) to obtain better forest practices on and returns from 345,000,000 acres of forest lands in private ownership; (c) to aid in the distribution of planting stock for forests, shelterbelts, and woodlots; (d) to stimulate development and proper management of State, county, and community forests.

(3) Forest and Related Range Research. At nine Forest and Range Experiment Stations and at the Forest Products Laboratory at Madison, Wis., the Forest Service conducts research in the entire field of forestry and range management, regardless of ownership, including the growth, protection against fire, insects, and disease; harvesting of timber; management of related rangelands; protection and management of watersheds; efficient and economical utilization of forest products; and research in forest economics. It is conducting a forest survey of the United States—a study of the present extent and potential growth and utilization of the Nation's forest resources.

Other activities include administration of 95 land utilization projects on approximately 7½ million acres of submarginal lands, forest road development and trails, acquisition of critical areas, flood prevention and watershed protection, and many cooperative projects.

Soil Conservation Service

The Soil Conservation Service gives technical help to farmers and ranchers in the nation's 2,600 soil conservation districts. The Service also administers the Department's up-stream flood-prevention and watershed-protection programs as integral parts of the total soil and water conservation job.

The Service has responsibility for assisting in the Agricultural Conservation Program of the Department. In this capacity it provides needed technical assistance to farmers who participate in the cost-sharing provisions of the Agricultural Conservation Program, and in providing technically adequate designs and specifications for the jobs undertaken.

It is the special function of the Soil Conservation Service to bring together in one staff the conservationists needed for solving land and water problems. The nation-wide staff is comprised of conservation technicians, soil scientists, irrigation, agricultural, hydraulic, and cartographic engineers, and specialists in woodland, biology, range management, agronomy, and plant materials.

The Service's soil conservationists are trained to coordinate and apply to a particular farm's needs and conditions the knowledge necessary for conservation of soil and water resources. They assist farmers and ranchers, directly on the ground, in planning and applying land-use adjustments and in using the combination of conservation practices needed to control erosion, preserve and improve the productivity of soils, conserve water resources, and use the soil and water resources for efficient and profitable farming.

In carrying out the national soil and water conservation program, the Service recognizes the important responsibility and role of local leadership of the legally formed and farmer-run soil conservation districts, which are local units of state government. The districts expedite the application of sound conservation programs to the land in an organized way.

Watershed protection projects, on a demonstration basis, were authorized by the 83d Congress. The Soil Conservation Service was directed to develop this new type program over a five-year period. The purpose of the program is to demonstrate how local watershed groups and the Federal Government can plan and install complete watershed protection as a means of conserving soil and water resources and alleviating damages from floods, silting of reservoirs, impairment of stream channels, and other upstream land and water problems.

In cooperation with the U. S. Geological Survey and the U. S. Weather Bureau, the Service is carrying out studies to evaluate the effect of individual reservoir units, determine flood stages along the main stream, and determine the utility of channel improvements. Hydraulic evaluation of conservation projects will be made through surface water investigations, sediment sampling, and ground water investigations.

MARKETING AND FOREIGN AGRICULTURE

Assistant Secretary

Earl L. Butz

Assistant to the Assistant Secretary----- Edmund E. Pendleton, Jr.

Agricultural Marketing Service

The Agricultural Marketing Service was created by Secretary's Memorandum No. 1320, Supplement 4, of November 2, 1953, under authority of Sec. 161, Revised Statutes (5 U. S. C. 22), Reorganization Plan No. 2 of 1953, and related authorities. The Agricultural Marketing Service administers programs relating to: (1) Marketing research, outlook, and related statistical and economic research; (2) crop and livestock estimates; (3) marketing services, including market news, standardization, grading, inspection and classing of farm products; (4) freight rate services; (5) marketing regulatory programs; (6) marketing agreements and orders; (7) surplus removal, export and diversion programs; and (8) the National School Lunch Program.

Marketing Research

Marketing research, including biological, physical, and economic research, is carried on to study ways and means of increasing the efficiency of marketing of agricultural commodities by means of better marketing practices, methods, facilities, and equipment in such areas as assembling, handling, packing, packaging, transporting, storing, processing, wholesaling, retailing, financing, and pricing agricultural products. Other research is directed toward developing new uses for farm products and expanding market outlets generally. The marketing research programs of AMS are carried out under authority of the Research and Marketing Act of 1946, marketing farm products legislation in annual appropriation acts, and other legislative authorities.

Economic and Statistical Research

Economic and statistical research carried on by AMS includes the collection, analysis, and interpretation of data concerning factors affecting agricultural prices, farm incomes, the supply and consumption of farm products, trends in farm population, and changes in the level of living of farm people. The results of these studies are widely disseminated and are relied upon by producers and dealers in planning the most profitable adjustments in their operations; by administrators in formulating and executing agricultural programs; and by Congress in considering agricultural legislation.

Crop and Livestock Estimates

The crop and livestock estimating service provides timely, basic information on acreage, yield, and production of crops, the stocks and values of farm commodities, the number and production value of livestock, and prices paid and received by farmers.

Market News

AMS administers a market news service to provide current, unbiased information to producers, processors, distributors and others to assist them in orderly marketing and distribution of farm commodities. Information is collected on supplies, demand, prices, movements, locations, quality, condition and other market data on farm products in specific markets and marketing areas. The information is disseminated through press associations, radio stations, newspapers, and by direct mailing of reports.

Standardization, Inspection, Grading, and Classing

Standards for agricultural commodities are developed and maintained through studies of physical characteristics and other factors affecting the marketing and utilization of such commodities to provide a common language of quality and condition for use by buyers and sellers. United States standards for grades, such as U. S. No. 1, U. S. Good, and U. S. Grade A, have been developed for most of the important farm commodities. The application of standards for some commodities is mandatory, such as those for grain and cotton moving in interstate commerce on the basis of grade; for apples and pears destined for export; for tobacco sold on designated markets and for products stored under authority of the U. S. Warehouse Act. Use of most of the standards, however, is permissive.

The grading and inspection programs are designed to certify to producers, shippers, processors, distributors, dealers, and consumers the quality and condition of agricultural commodities and food products, taking into account standards, grades, and other applicable factors. These programs are administered on a fee basis through (1) Federal employees, (2) Federal-State employees working under Federal supervision in accordance with the terms of applicable co-operative agreements and contracts, and (3) licensed individuals working under Federal technical supervision in accordance with the terms of applicable agreements and contracts.

Freight Rate Services

AMS, acting for the Secretary of Agriculture, has responsibility for obtaining fair and reasonable rates and essential services necessary to efficient transportation of agricultural commodities and farm supplies. In accomplishing this objective, AMS maintains constant contact with farmers, associations, and cooperatives, so that transportation rate and service problems are promptly identified; and maintains continuing studies of and research into matters concerned with rates, charges, tariffs, abandonment or expansion of facilities, and financial returns of all types of rail, motor, and water carriers. AMS is the direct representative in negotiations with carriers and in proposing, participating in, and offering evidence in formal and informal proceedings, before regulatory bodies, such as the Interstate Commerce Commission, the Maritime Administration, the Civil Aeronautics Board, and the various State transportation regulatory bodies.

Marketing Regulatory Programs

AMS administers marketing regulatory programs of three general types designed collectively to protect producers, handlers, and consumers of agricultural commodities from financial loss or personal injury resulting from careless, deceptive, or fraudulent marketing practices. One type regulates certain business practices of dealers in farm commodities; a second insures truth in certain labels such as those affixed to seed packages; and a third covers instances of mandatory inspections. These main types of regulations are found singly or in combination in regulatory laws such as the Packers and Stockyards Act, the Perishable Agricultural Commodities Act, the Federal Seed Act, the United States Warehouse Act, the United States Grain Standards Act, the United States Cotton Standards Act, the Naval Stores Act, and the Tobacco Inspection Act.

Marketing Agreements and Orders

Marketing agreement and order programs, carried on under authority of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, help to establish and maintain orderly marketing condition for certain commodities and their products. Commodities for which marketing agreements and order programs are in effect include milk, fruits, vegetables, tobacco, nuts, and hops. Milk order programs establish minimum prices that handlers or distributors are required to pay producers. Programs for other commodities do not establish prices that must be paid producers, but prices are affected by controls over the quality, quantity, and rate of shipment from producing areas to market; the establishment of reserve pools; the control and disposition of surpluses; prohibition of unfair trade practices; and posting of prices.

Surplus Removal, Export and Diversion Programs

Section 32 (of Public Law No. 320, 74th Congress) provides that an amount equal to 30 percent of the gross receipts from duties collected under the customs laws during each calendar year shall be made available to the Secretary of Agriculture during each following fiscal year for carrying out authorized programs. Under Section 32, AMS makes payments to commercial exporters and others to encourage exports of surplus commodities; and makes payments to encourage diversion of surplus commodities from normal channels of trade to new markets and new uses. Funds obtained from customs receipts under Section 32 also are used in the food promotion programs to encourage consumers to make greater use of foods in plentiful supply; in distribution of surplus commodities to school lunch programs; and in making surplus foods available to institutions, and to welfare agencies for relief purposes.

National School Lunch Program

AMS administers the national school lunch program under authority of the National School Lunch Act of 1946. Through grants-in-aid to States, AMS provides financial assistance to public and private schools, of high school grade or under, operating non-profit school lunch programs. These funds are provided to schools on the basis of their need for assistance and the number of meals served. The Federal funds must be matched by funds from sources within the States. The act provides that part of the total appropriation for the school lunch program may be used by the Department to purchase food for direct distribution to participating schools—a distribution in addition to foods the schools may purchase with Federal grant-in-aid funds. The act also provides that commodities purchased by the Department under authority of Section 32 may be distributed to participating schools and to other schools operating non-profit lunch programs.

AMS Organization

Under the Office of the Administrator the functions and services of the Agricultural Marketing Service are divided broadly into two categories, namely, Marketing Research and Statistics, and Marketing Services, each under the direction of a Deputy Administrator. Marketing Research and Statistics includes the broad research and development programs relating to marketing and distribution; economic analysis and statistical programs relating to prices, income, food demand and consumption, farm population and rural life, and agricultural history; crop and livestock estimates and reporting programs relating to production, price, supply, and other aspects of the agricultural economy and related activities. This work is carried out by three divisions, the Agricultural Economics Division, the Agricultural Estimates Division and Marketing Research Division.

Under Marketing Services are included the conduct of such services as inspection, grading, classing, standardization, testing, market news and reports and other marketing services; marketing agreements and orders; regulatory, market outlet, food distribution, school lunch, school milk, surplus removal, and related activities; and the administration of the U. S. Warehouse Act, and Section 201 of the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938 and related authorities, covering adjustments in freight rates for farm products. These Marketing Services are carried out by seven commodity divisions (Cotton, Dairy, Fruit and Vegetable, Grain, Livestock, Poultry and Tobacco), a Food Distribution Division, and a Special Services Division.

The administrative management activities of the Service are carried on by the Administrative Services Division, the Personnel Division, and the Budget and Finance Division in Washington and through three Area Administrative Divisions located at Oakland, California, Chicago, Illinois, and in Washington, D. C. All six divisions function under the over-all direction of an Assistant Administrator for Management.

Program appraisal, investigation and audit services essential to the administration of AMS programs and the information activities of AMS are carried out by two staff divisions, the Program Appraisal and Audit Division, and the Marketing Information Division, which report directly to the Administrator. A Chairman of the Agricultural Outlook and Situation Board, a Liaison Officer with the Commissioners of Agriculture, and a Statistical Clearance and Standards Officer also serve as staff officers in the Office of the Administrator.

Commodity Exchange Authority

The functions of the Commodity Exchange Authority are designed to prevent price manipulation and corners affecting agricultural commodities under the act; prevent dissemination of false and misleading crop and market information affecting prices; protect hedgers and other users of the commodity futures markets against cheating, fraud, and manipulative practices; insure the benefits of membership privileges on contract markets to cooperative associations of producers; insure trust-fund treatment of margin moneys and equities of hedgers and other traders and prevent the misuse of such funds by brokers; and provide information to the public regarding trading operations on contract markets.

The Commodity Exchange Authority supervises trading on commodity exchanges designated as contract markets. There are 17 such markets. The commodities covered include wheat, corn, oats, barley, rye, flaxseed, grain sorghums, cotton, rice, millfeeds, butter, eggs, Irish potatoes, onions, wool, wool tops, cottonseed meal, cottonseed, peanuts, soybeans, soybean meal, and fats and oils.

Foreign Agricultural Service

The Foreign Agricultural Service is the arm of the Department of Agriculture that promotes the export of American farm products, provides the Department and American agriculture with representation in foreign areas through an overseas attache service, and serves as the basic source of information to American agriculture on world developments that affect competition and demand for American farm products in international trade.

The original Foreign Agricultural Service was established on June 5, 1930, and supplanted nine years later by the Office of Foreign Agricultural Relations. The latter operated largely as a fact-finding and analysis organization, and participated in foreign technical assistance programs. FAS was reestablished in 1953, with restoration of its original purpose of export market promotion and with renewed emphasis on disseminating information of specific usefulness to American agricultural producers, processors, distributors, and exporters.

On September 1, 1954 the market development, fact-finding, and economic research functions of the agency were considerably strengthened by establishment of a world-wide agricultural attache service. The Department now has on-the-spot representation in more than 50 important agricultural countries of the world.

FAS carries out its market development programs through action to:

(1) Work with foreign governments and private channels of trade to meet foreign market preferences, overcome currency and exchange problems, and obtain equality of treatment for American farm products in the world market.

(2) Gather, analyze, and disseminate firsthand information on world markets, trade opportunities and situations, and competition.

(3) Help American exporters and foreign importers get together under conditions favorable to trade.

Leadership responsibility in carrying out government-wide export programs to accelerate the foreign marketing of American farm surpluses has largely been placed in FAS. Responsibility for the Department's participation in international organization, trade and tariff conferences, international trade fairs, and foreign technical assistance programs, is vested in FAS. Administration of import programs to protect the domestic price structure from unfair foreign competition is also the responsibility of the agency.

AGRICULTURAL STABILIZATION

Assistant Secretary

J. A. McConnell

Assistant to the Assistant Secretary—Howard J. Doggett

COMMODITY STABILIZATION SERVICE

The Commodity Stabilization Service was established by Secretary's Memorandum No. 1320, Supplement 4, November 2, 1953. It is responsible for planning, coordinating and administering production adjustment activities including acreage allotments and marketing quotas; for formulating proposed programs and administering programs adopted by the Commodity Credit Corporation and related programs to adjust and stabilize the production, supply, price, and carry-over of agricultural commodities, to sell and otherwise dispose of government-owned surplus commodities through domestic and foreign outlets; for financing the commercial sale and exportation of surplus commodities for foreign currencies; for conducting procurement, processing, shipment, payment, and related service operations on surplus removal and supply programs directed by other Services of the Department and by other agencies; and for assigned mobilization planning, stockpiling, and defense activities.

Production Adjustment Programs

The Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, as amended, authorizes the adjustment of supplies, through acreage allotments, and adjustment of marketings of corn, wheat, cotton, rice, tobacco, peanuts, and long-staple cotton through marketing quotas, whenever supplies are out of line with demand. Compliance with acreage allotments and marketing quotas has been made a condition of eligibility for price support under provisions of the Agricultural Act of 1949. Also, when marketing quotas are in effect, excess marketing of commodities under quotas is subject to penalties. Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) county committees administer allotments and quotas locally.

Price Support Program

Price support operations, financed and controlled by the Commodity Credit Corporation, are administered by the Commodity Stabilization Service. The local administration of price support programs is supervised by Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) county committees. Support operations are carried out under the Commodity Credit Corporation's charter powers in conformity with the Agricultural Act of 1949. Price support is mandatory, in terms of percentages of the parity price, for corn, cotton, wheat, tobacco, rice, peanuts, wool, mohair, tung nuts, honey, milk and butterfat. For other commodities, support is permissive.

Support is achieved through loans, agreements to purchase, purchases, or, in the case of some commodities, through a combination of these methods.

Commodities acquired under price support operations are disposed of through various outlets, including sales in commercial channels, sales to foreign governments, or sales to other United States Government agencies, principally those administering foreign relief programs. Subject to certain exceptions, the Commodity Credit Corporation is prohibited under Section 407 of the Agricultural Act of 1949 from selling any basic agricultural commodity or storable non-basic commodity at less than five percent above the current support price of such commodity plus reasonable carrying charges.

Under Section 416 of the Agricultural Act of 1949, agricultural food commodities which are in danger of deterioration or spoilage before they can be disposed of in normal domestic channels without impairing the price support program are authorized to be made available to the Munitions Board or any other Federal agency for use in making payments for commodities not produced in the United States. Commodities not disposed of in this manner may be made available free of cost at point of storage in accordance with the following priorities: (1) school lunch programs; Bureau of Indian Affairs; Federal, State, and local public welfare organizations for the relief of Indians and other needy people; (2) private welfare organizations for the assistance of needy persons within the United States; and (3) private welfare organizations for the assistance of needy persons outside the United States.

Under Title I of the Agricultural Trade Development and Assistance Act of 1954, a program is carried out for the sale of surplus agricultural commodities for foreign currencies. The Act provides that Commodity Credit Corporation shall make available surplus agricultural commodities heretofore or hereafter acquired in its price support operations, and make available funds to finance the sale and exportation of surplus commodities from stocks owned by the Corporation or pledged as security for price support loans or from stocks privately owned if the Corporation is not in position to supply the commodity from its owned stocks. To facilitate the use of private trade channels even where the Corporation is in a position to supply the commodity, the Corporation may finance the sale and exportation if the exporter makes arrangements to purchase the same commodity of comparable value or quantity from the Corporation's stocks.

Supply and Foreign Purchase Program

Procurement operations fall into three general categories: (1) procurement for other Government agencies, principally the Department of State and the Department of the Army; (2) limited procurement for foreign governments; and (3) procurement for international relief organizations.

As required under this program, commodities are purchased abroad (in cooperation with the Commodity Credit Corporation) to meet both domestic and foreign requirements.

Sugar Program

The chief objective of the sugar program as set forth in the Sugar Act of 1948 is "to protect the welfare of consumers of sugars and those engaged in the domestic sugar-producing industry." Attainment of this objective involves (1) determination of United States consumption requirements; (2) administration of quotas to regulate imports of sugar produced in foreign areas, as well as marketings of sugar produced in domestic areas; and (3) payments to domestic producers of sugar beets and sugarcane, provided producers comply with certain labor, wage, price, and marketing requirements prescribed by law.

International Sugar Agreement

The International Sugar Agreement was ratified on April 29, 1954. Its stated objectives are: (1) to assure supplies of sugar to importing countries and markets for sugar to exporting countries at equitable and stable prices; (2) to increase the consumption of sugar throughout the world; and (3) to maintain the purchasing power in world markets of countries largely dependent upon the production or export of sugar. As a signatory to the Agreement, the efforts of the United States will be directed toward attainment of these objectives, thus contributing to stabilization of the world sugar economy.

International Wheat Agreement

The International Wheat Agreement is aimed at assuring markets for wheat to exporting countries and supplies of wheat to importing countries at equitable prices. Under the terms of the agreement the United States is entitled to sell specified quantities of wheat to importing countries. The agreement sets up certain maximum and minimum prices.

Drought Emergency Feed Program

This program provides feed grains and concentrates (excluding hay) at reduced prices to livestock producers unable to purchase feeds at regular prices in disaster areas designated by the President. Eligible participants are farmers, stockmen and ranchers maintaining foundation herds of livestock. The program is designed to distribute stocks of feeds for drought relief through the regular channels of trade, thereby minimizing the lag between approval for eligibility and actual distribution.

The Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation county committee responsible for issuing negotiable certificates to feed dealers presenting Farmers' Purchase Orders issued by Farmers' Home Administration county committees, and used by farmers in partial payment for feed. This certificate, although negotiable, will eventually be used for the purchase of CCC-owned designated surplus feeds.

Defense Food Program

The defense food program is carried on under authority of the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended, and related legislation. Responsibility for important phases of this program has been delegated by the Secretary of Agriculture to the Administrator of the Commodity Stabilization Service.

The defense food program is designed to cover all essential uses and to make certain that essential users obtain the food they need. To carry out this basic objective, the Secretary has delegated the Commodity Stabilization Service authority to: (1) allocate and otherwise control the distribution of foods where such controls appear to be necessary; (2) serve as claimant for nonfood materials and facilities and labor needed for food production, processing, and distribution; (3) distribute fertilizer and farm machinery; (4) make recommendations concerning credit that may be necessary in particular cases; and by special arrangement, (5) procure food needed for defense reserves and other purposes. These activities are closely related to and many are carried on in conjunction with operations conducted under regular authorities of the Commodity Stabilization Service.

Storage Facilities Program

Under authority of the Commodity Credit Corporation, the Commodity Stabilization Service carries out storage facilities operations through (1) purchasing and maintaining granaries and equipment for care and storage of Corporation-owned or controlled grain in areas where commercial storage facilities are inadequate; (2) making loans for construction or expansion of farm-storage facilities; and (3) such other undertakings as may be necessary.

Commodity Credit Corporation

The Commodity Credit Corporation was organized October 17, 1933, pursuant to Executive Order 6340 of October 16, 1933, under the laws of the State of Delaware, as an agency of the United States. From October 17, 1933 to July 1, 1939 the Commodity Credit Corporation was managed and operated in close affiliation with the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. On July 1, 1939 the Commodity Credit Corporation was transferred to the United States Department of Agriculture by the President's Reorganization Plan I. Approval of the Commodity Credit Corporation Charter Act on June 29, 1948 (62 Stat. 1070; 15 USC Sup. 714), subsequently amended established the Commodity Credit Corporation, effective July 1, 1948, as an agency and instrumentality of the United States under a permanent Federal charter.

The Commodity Credit Corporation is managed by a board of directors, subject to the general supervision and direction of the Secretary of Agriculture, who is an ex-officio director and chairman of the board. The board consists of six members (in addition to the Secretary of Agriculture), who are appointed by the President of the United States by and with the advice and consent of the Senate.

In addition to the board of directors, the Commodity Credit Corporation has a five-member advisory board, the members of which are appointed by the President of the United States. Not more than three of the members may belong to the same political party. The advisory board meets at least every 90 days to survey the general policies of the Commodity Credit Corporation.

The Commodity Credit Corporation is capitalized at $100,000,000. This Corporation also has authority to borrow not to exceed $12,000,000,000 for use in carrying out its programs.

In carrying on its operations, the Commodity Credit Corporation utilizes the personnel and facilities of the Commodity Stabilization Service.

One of the major programs of the Corporation is price support, which, under existing legislation is mandatory for corn, wheat, rice, tobacco, cotton, peanuts, wool, mohair, tung nuts, honey, and milk and butterfat. For other commodities price support is permissive.

Another important program of the Corporation is the procurement of agricultural products to meet the needs of United States Government agencies—principally those administering relief programs abroad—cash-paying foreign governments, and international relief agencies. The Corporation is authorized to purchase commodities abroad to meet both domestic and foreign requirements. The Corporation is also authorized to exchange surplus agricultural commodities which it has acquired for strategic and critical materials purchased abroad.

The Corporation may export or cause to be exported at competitive world prices any commodity or product that is not in short supply. Administration of American operations under the International Wheat Agreement is a responsibility of the Commodity Credit Corporation.

Under its storage facilities program, the Corporation (1) purchases and maintains granaries and equipment for care and storage of Corporation-owned or controlled grain in areas where commercial storage facilities are inadequate, (2) makes loans for the construction or expansion of farm-storage facilities, and (3) undertakes such other operations as may be necessary to provide storage adequate to carry out efficiently and effectively the Corporation's programs.

Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committees

County and community committees of farmers are elected by the farmers in a county. These committees, known as Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County and Community Committees, are used by the Commodity Stabilization Service and Agricultural Conservation Programs Service in the execution of all programs dealing directly with farmers. State Committees are appointed by the Secretary of Agriculture under authority of the Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act, and are known as Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) State Committees. ASC State Committees, subject to the general direction and supervision of the Administrator, Commodity Stabilization Service are generally responsible for carrying out the Commodity Stabilization Service and Agricultural Conservation Program Service programs within the State.

These committees have a dual responsibility. In contacting the farmers of their respective areas and obtaining recommendations and suggestions in the formulation of programs, their responsibility is to the farm operators to provide programs and program provisions which will as nearly as possible fit the conditions prevailing. Recommendations of State, county and community committeemen are, to the extent feasible, incorporated in the National programs. These programs, when formulated, are turned over to State, county and community committees for execution, and these committees are thereafter responsible to the Department for the efficient execution of such programs.

Programs administered through ASC State, county and community committees include the agricultural conservation, production adjustment, price support and stabilization, and related programs as assigned, Sugar Act payments, and other programs requiring direct dealings with farmers and other agricultural interests.

Federal Crop Insurance Corporation

The Federal Crop Insurance Corporation, created within the Department of Agriculture in 1938, develops and operates a practical plan of insurance protection against loss of investment in crops from unavoidable causes such as adverse weather conditions, insect infestation and plant diseases. This protection is an amount not exceeding the usual investment in the insured crop.

The program is operated on a business basis, with insured farmers paying premiums for the protection. The premiums to be paid by farmers are established at rates which are expected to balance with indemnities paid out over a period of years.

The crop investment protection offered in a county is usually on the crops most important to the farmers' income. The number of insurance counties is limited by legislation.

Under present legislation, insurance is being offered on wheat, cotton, corn, tobacco, flax, and dry edible beans on a commodity basis. Protection of investment in several crops is being offered under a multiple crop insurance plan in diversified farming areas. Trial programs may be operated on additional commodities when sufficient actuarial data are available. A limited scale trial program is currently being offered on citrus crops.

Farmers Home Administration

The Farmers Home Administration, through loans and other assistance, helps farmers place their operations on a more efficient basis. It also provides emergency loans for farmers who because of drought, floods, or similar disasters, need a supplemental source of credit.

Credit extended by the agency supplements but does not compete with loans made by private and cooperative lenders. Veterans with farm experience receive preference for most types of loans.

Operating loans, that help small farmers make better use of land and labor resources, are made for the purchase of equipment, feed, seed, fertilizer, livestock, and other farming needs including family subsistence. Maximum initial loan is $7,000, total outstanding operating loan indebtedness is limited to $10,000 for any one borrower. Loans are to be repaid in 1 to 7 years.

Farm Ownership loans are made to help farmers buy, enlarge, develop, or improve efficient family-type farms. Loans are made from private capital and insured by the Government, or from appropriated funds. Loans are amortized for periods not to exceed 40 years but can be repaid in less time through larger payments in good years. Insured loans are limited to 90 percent of the fair and reasonable value of the farm.

Soil and Water Conservation loans are made on an insured loan basis or from appropriated funds. Borrowers may be individual farmers or nonprofit associations serving farmers. Loan funds may be used to pay the cash costs of making improvements directly related to soil conservation; water development, conservation, or use; establishment of improved pastures; forestry; farm drainage; and related measures. Loans to individuals are limited to $25,000; associations may borrow up to $250,000. Individual loans are repayable in periods up to 20 years. Loans to associations, in exceptional cases, may be amortized over periods up to 40 years.

In designated area where an emergency has caused need for supplemental agricultural credit, loans are made to enable farmers to continue operations. These loans cannot be made to reimburse farmers directly or indirectly for losses caused by the emergency nor to refinance existing indebtedness.

Special livestock loans are made to help established producers and feeders of cattle, sheep and goats (except commercial feed lot operators) maintain their normal livestock operations. They are repayable in 1 to 3 years.

All loans are made through the agency's 1,500 local offices serving all agricultural counties. Loans are subject to approval of applicants' eligibility by the Farmers Home Administration committee for the particular county. Each county committee is made up of three local persons, at least two of whom are farmers.

The Farmers Home Administration supervisors in charge of the local offices, many serving more than one county, receive applications, make loans, assist borrowers with planning and carrying out farm and home plans, receive payments, and handle other phases of local program administration.

State Directors in 41 State offices, some serving more than one State, are administratively in charge of the Farmers Home Administration in their units. The State Director is responsible to the Administrator and has the assistance of a State Farmers Home Administration Advisory Committee of five members.

Rural Electrification Administration

The Rural Electrification Administration administers two loan programs: (1) For rural electrification facilities; and (2) for extension and improvement of rural telephone service.

Loans for rural electrification are made to cooperatives, public utility districts, municipalities and power companies to finance electric generation, transmission, and distribution facilities in order to bring electricity to persons in rural areas not receiving central station electric service. The Rural Electrification Act provides that in making electric loans preference shall be given to cooperatives and other nonprofit organizations. It also authorizes loans to finance the wiring of rural establishments and the purchase of electrical equipment by those receiving service. There are nearly 1,000 active electric borrowers. About 95 percent of all Rural Electrification Administration electric loan funds have been lent to locally-owned, member-controlled cooperatives organized under State laws. All Rural Electrification Administration loans are self-liquidating. Loans are made on a maximum 35 year amortization basis with interest at 2 percent.

Telephone loans are made to independent companies and to cooperative, nonprofit, limited dividend or mutual associations. These loans are for the purpose of financing the improvement, expansion, construction, acquisition, and operation of telephone lines, facilities or systems to furnish and improve telephone service in rural areas.

The Administration maintains no field offices. It has, however a field staff of engineers, accountants, management advisors and telephone specialists.

Office of Information

The Office of Information, as a staff agency, determines overall and basic operating policies and procedures for information work. This includes advisory assistance to the Secretary on all informational matters.

The Office directs, integrates, and coordinates information work with the Department's overall basic planning, research, and action programs, including planning, formulating, and coordinating policies for agency information programs and operation. It also reviews all information operations of the Department for effective and efficient operation and produces certain information materials. The work of the Office falls into three groups: Publications, which includes the management of the publications program of the Department, policy review and clearance, printing, and distribution of publications; current information, which includes press, radio, and television materials, special reports, and the compilation and publication of the Yearbook of Agriculture; visual, which includes exhibits, photographs, illustrations and graphics, and motion pictures.

Publications.—The Publications Division is responsible for policy clearance and control of all publications of the Department, both printed and processed. Through several series of technical and popular publications, there is made available to farmers and the public generally, information concerning results of research, conservation, regulatory, and service work of the Department. Popular publications may be obtained through Members of Congress, county agents of the Extension Service, or direct from the Department in Washington. Technical publications are printed in small volume for scientific workers and cooperators. A Yearbook of Agriculture is made available annually to Members of Congress, pursuant to law, and available generally by purchase from the Superintendent of Documents; there is available also through the Superintendent of Documents an annual volume of Agricultural Statistics.

Current Information.—Current agricultural information is disseminated by the Press Service, Special Reports Division, and the Radio and Television Service. Close cooperation is maintained with the daily, periodical, and farm press in disseminating useful information concerning programs of the Department in an effort to help farmers reduce production costs, conserve the soil, improve the quality of their products, and widen their markets.

Regular cooperation is maintained with three major radio networks in assembling and broadcasting timely information to farm families. Through State extension editors, information is supplied in broadcast form to local radio and television stations doing farm or consumer-type programs. Special information is sent weekly, upon request, to radio stations for the use of farm directors in program planning. A weekly television packet reporting on research and action programs and containing suggested script and materials for ready use and adaptation for local delivery goes to farm telecasters requesting this service.

Visual.—Visual agricultural information is disseminated through the media of motion pictures, exhibits, illustrations, and photographs.

The Motion Picture Service produces and distributes, through cooperating film libraries primarily located at land-grant colleges and universities, educational motion pictures designed to interpret, primarily to farm people, problems and programs for agriculture and to guide and instruct in the production, marketing, and disposition of the food, fiber, and oil crops. A 16-mm. stock film library is maintained of scenes of agricultured motion picture footage which is available to Department agencies and others at a nominal cost.

Through production and display of educational exhibits and through correlation of exhibit activities of the Department, the Exhibits Service places before farmers, homemakers, and the rural public information on currently important agricultural situations and subjects, and especially the results of research.

A catalog of film strips, available for purchase, covering many phases of agriculture and home economics is issued, and a library of color transparencies is maintained in the Office.

A centralized file of all news and general-type photographs of the Department on agricultural and home economics subjects is maintained in the Division of Photographs.

Art and graphics and still photographic production work for the Department, with the exception of cartographic work, is performed by the Office of Information.

FIELD ACTIVITIES SECTION

This section of the Directory is a geographical arrangement showing the field activities of the Department of Agriculture listed by cities and towns where employees are located in the States, Territories, possessions, in Puerto Rico and in foreign countries.

The name in parentheses following the name of the city is the name of the county in which that particular city is located. Work at each location is listed by agency (name abbreviated). Following the agency symbol is a brief statement of the work at that installation. The figure in parentheses shows the number of employees at the location. The person listed is the individual with whom contacts might be made. An asterisk (*) indicates employment on a cooperative basis with State and local agencies.

Normally the work done at each Farmers Home Administration (FHA) office, not shown on each individual listing, includes receiving applications, making loans, assisting borrowers with planning and carrying out farm-and-home plans, receiving repayments and handling other phases of local program administration.

Limitations of space have prevented listing the thousands of State Cooperative Extension employees (county agents, home demonstration agents, etc.). Addresses of State Extension Directors are listed.
